CASINO TECHNOLOGY'S LATIN AMERICAN BRANCH MARKS FURTHER SUCCESS IN THE REGION

As we approach the Peru Gaming Show in August 2008 the team of Casino Technology's Latin American branch has a lot of positive news about the company's expansion into the region.

The representative office, which was opened in Lima, Peru last September under the name TransAtlantic Gaming, has made great progress in market expansion of the company in a range of countries, including Peru, Colombia, Venezuela, Uruguay, Panama and Mexico.

In order to cope with the increased customer base the sales team was recently enlarged with two new members: Stefan Enchev and Georges Didier. David Nicholls, General Manager TAG comments: 'I am really satisfied by the fact that we now have in our team those two young specialists, with their extensive knowledge and professional experience in casino equipment sales. An additional advantage for us is that Stefan has his background in European casino markets while Georges Didier is experienced with the local market in Peru. Their combined efforts will certainly bring a lot of benefits to our Sales team, making it flexible and extremely useful to the local clients by applying the extensive experience of Casino Technology in the different parts of the world.

Casino Technology's Latin American Operation will be able to present to the Peru Gaming Show audience a range of certified products available for operation in Peru and other countries in the region.

Homologation has been completed for the luxurious GEMINI slot-machine range, and the same procedure is in process for the more economical versions of APOLLO and G-CLUB. There is also available a large variety of certified hi-performing games offering great choice to operators in terms of themes and math models. The latest installation is in casino Eden in Lima, Peru, featuring some of the classic video slot games from Casino Technology, including Emperors Adventures, Coffee Magic, New Love Story, etc., which showed intriguing performing results and players acclamation. Under pending certification is a series of PC-based games featuring new-generation splendid graphics and interactive features.

On another news Casino Technology's Marketing team is happy to announce the start of the Spanish language section of the corporate web site of the company.
